

BIOGRAPHY

Nevaeh Weaver is a Nashville-based soul-jazz and R&B vocalist whose sound merges the timeless grace of Billie Holiday with the raw honesty of Lauryn Hill. Known for her narrative-driven phrasing and warm, resonant tone, she creates music that offers listeners belonging, healing, and emotional truth. Originally from Western Pennsylvania, Nevaeh is currently studying Commercial Music at Belmont University, where she is crafting a sound that bridges classic influences with modern soul as she prepares upcoming releases centered on identity, faith, and connection.
